"... the building of my herd"

Many a farmer knows that initiative, hard work and the financial support of the bank can all play their part in developing a successful farming operation.

One such man, a rancher in the West, recently wrote to his bank manager:

"I wish to express my appreciation of the way your bank has treated me through the years . . . the encouragement you have given me in the building of my herd. I feel the success we have achieved could hardly have been obtained without your intelligent support."

The farmer uses bank credit in many ways: to develop his land, buy livestock and equipment, market crops. Aiding Canada's food producers is an important part of the broad service the chartered banks perform for all Canadians.

The Weak Spot

GENERAL EISENHOWER IS RIGHT in identifying inflation as the largest single danger to the economy of the United States and hence of the free United States and hence of the free world at large. He is right also in be-lieving that inflation—however prices may fluctuate temporarily—will continue so long as the United States government far more than it collects and thereby, through the quiet operations the credit system, increases the total supply of money at the expense of de-basing the real value of the dollar.

As he says a national government can ways pay its bills, no matter how large they may be. When it needs m money than it collects in taxes it manufactures that money, not by the crude factures that money, not by the crude old method of the printing press, but by the manipulation of the credit mechanism, so unobstrusively that the public hardly suspects what is under

In the last few months that kind of manipulation has begun again in Washington. The gears of the money system have been reversed. After a year of holding down the supply of money the government is preparing to expand it. Restrictions on private bank loans (which) create new money) have been abandoned along with restrictions on consumcredit. The price of government bonds has been rising slightly, which means that interest rates are dropping to en-courage new borrowing and thus a larger money supply. More serious, the gov-ernment is preparing to incur a huge deficit, something like 10 billion dollars, in the next year The purpose of these policies is not nomic but political. The government is setting an attractive stage for the autumn election on the theory that huge government spending, easy money and a harmless dose of inflation is the surest way of winning votes. That theory of politics may well be true, if the public is foolish enough to accept it is foolish enough to accept it, and the end result, as General Eisenhower says is to debase the value of money, to foolish enough to accept it but the is to debase the value of money to damage all savings and to promote bitter conflicts within the society. A group of American economists re-cently put this whole problem in a nutshell. In their report they can shell. In their report they say that United States has been increasing its output of goods at a rate of about 3 per cent per year, but it has been in-creasing its money wages at a rate of about 10 per cent. In that unequal race between money and goods money seems to win, but in fact loses. There is more money and it is worth less, as it must be when there are insufficient goods to

It may be said that all this is only a temporary phenomenon, induced by the cost of rearmament and by the tactics of politicians in an election year. Un-fortunately the thing goes much deeper than that and much further than the borders of the United States. Every free country in the world is involved not in the passing behaviour of prices but in the larger process by which democratic governments fool themselves and the people by tampering with money. The late Lord Keynes, who has had a more profound effect on economic habits than any economist since Marx, foresaw when he proclaimed the theory of compensatory spending by gov ernment. In bad times he proposed that government deliberately use inflation to stimulate purchasing power; but in boom times that the money supply be correspondingly reduced. He would use an accelerator against depression but, equally he intended it to use brakes against

And he once said of inflation that it was the most dangerous of all economic devices since it could be started so easily and so secretly that no one could tell afterwards who pushed the button or when. Used with courage and candor, the Koursian was a secret of the when. Used with courage and candor, the Keynsian system of economics, now generally accepted in free countries, can greatly cushion and curb the old dis-tortions of the business cycle. Used recklessly, or for temporary political-purposes, it can ruin any economic sys-tem. The largest economic question in America today is whether a democracy can safely handle such a lethal weapon.

Health Insurance

AN INTERESTING CONFLICT HAS developed between the Conservative party of British Columbia and at least some Conservative members of Parlia-ment on the issue of hospital insurance.

In this province the party proposes to repeal the existing general and com-pulsory system of hospital insurance. In Parliament Mr. George Hees, a Toronto Conservative, demands that the federal government institute a nation-wide compulsory system of health which would include hospital insurance

Here the Conservatives denounce this kind of legislation as intolerable com pulsion and as excessively expensive But Mr. Hees would establish a compulsory system on a national scale at far

The federal government we believe is wise in postponing any health insur-ance project for the present. Such a policy would cost not less than $400 millions a year, which is almost equivalent to half the present income tax. This bill would have to be paid by a heavy in-crease in taxes, probably with a social security tax much larger than that about to be levied for old age pensions. The people of Canada can hardly wish to undertake this burden when taxes already are at a high level.

Moreover, the experience of British Columbia and Saskatchewan in hospital insurance (only one phase of general health insurance) suggests that the fed-eral government could wisely watch these local schemes develop and learn from their mistakes before launching

In the recent parliamentary debate Conservative party, as represented by Mr. Hees, demands about a 10 per cent increase in the total cost of gov ment. Yet the Conservative party is never tired of condemning the governmine for spending too much. It is the old story of an opposition urging econ-omy in general and advocating increased costs in detail.

Assuredly there is need of econo in government at all three levels, We government is spending much of the people's money. But the cry of economy comes strangely from a Con servative party whose official platform proposes a huge increase in total spend ing and some of whose responsible mem bers in Parliament are proposing a health insurance scheme of incalculable

Value for the Money

A WEEK FROM NEXT SATURDAY property owners of Esquimalt will be asked to vote on a $300,000 street construction and reconditioning by-law. Compared with the Esquimalt budget, the sum is considerable. To justify borrowing to that extent the understand what they are getting for the money and why it is necessary to authorize such a loan.

The most compelling argument in the project's favor is that it will save the municipality money

Esquimalt has been engaged for some years in the unprofitable practice of patching patches as far as its streets are concerned. When a stretch of road-way became so bad that people using it rebelled, the district's public works de partment made some improvements to it In almost all cases, they have been short-lived and have served only to em-phasize the deterioration of other parts which have subsequently fallen into dis

With the money that could be raised by passage of the by-law more perman-ent work could be done. Sixteen streets would be put into good shape at individual costs ranging from the $70,000 listed for Lampson St, to a $4,000 job on Gore.

Without the money available from an proved by-law, Esquimalt can continue its present policy of inadequate and temporary repairs. That, engineers say, would be as expensive in the long run as would the major project and

These are days, of course, in which municipal councils as well as other gov ernments, are being urged to practice economy. The $300,000 borrowing made through 15-year seria' debentures would cost $134,000 in interest charges, raising the total to $434,000.

It is up to the taxpayers to decide whether or not they want to spend that much money for something of lasting value, or to allow a similar amount to dribble away ineffectively in what amounts to patch jobs.

The appeal of the reeve and council for support for the by-law is based on the conviction that it will effect an eventual economy and give the residents decent streets. If it is carried by the voters it should do much to change the attitude of motorists in general who are inclined to read the boundary signs pro-claiming Esquimalt's limits as warnings to drive slowly because of bad roads

The Letter and the Spirit

THE FUNDAMENTAL FACTOR IN any international disarmament scheme is the spirit of co-operation which says in effect, "We have no designs on you and we believe you have none on us. Therefore neither of us. needs large armaments, so let us reduce them." Without that spirit no such scheme can be truly effective. There are too many ways of evading the letter of the law if the spirit is lacking. The disarmament of Germany following the First World War provided a case in point. Although the numbers of men in the forces was strictly regulated, the quality was not. Thus, using the uni-formed men permitted, Germany built a corps of highly-trained non-commis-sioned officers that was quickly adaptable as the nucleus of a much larger armed force

Periodic Russian proposals for disarmament, such as that for a one-third reduction in the forces of East and West, lack the assurance of good-will that must be an accompaniment. For a country in the active process of extending its power throughout the world through ideological imperialism cannot be convincing in offering disarmament pro This is particularly true when the size of the armed forces of the orig inating nation is a close secret but re liably believed to be vast. A one-third cut proposal under such conditions means nothing.

More concrete is the suggestion of Britain, France and the United States, that the forces of Russia, China and the United States be limited to 1,500,000 each, and those of Britain and France to 800,000. It at least gives a definite figure on which to base calculation of strengths.

But like all such plans, evasion would not be difficult. And the intricate problem of assessing the value of a pilot in comparison with that of an in fantryman, of a naval gunner with air navigator, appears to provide material for argument for all time, A full measure of security and trust on both sides would solve the problem immediately. But nothing the U.S.S.R. has done since it came into being has raised such feelings in the democracies. now fearfully arming against the ex-panding might of the Red colossus.

LOOSE ENDS

The Home Stretch

BY BRUCE HUTCHISON

THIS last desperate phase of the provincial election campaign, Mr. Montague Fwap, Q.C., issued his final instructions to the candidates of the Universal No - Party Party (U.N.P.P). He told them, with that fine candor which has marked his manage ment of our campaign. to make as much noise as possible, say as little as possible and to offend nobody.

When Admiral
Bingle, founder of the U.N.P.P., said he felt there was a certain lack of clarity our campaign, that the electors did not seem to understand our platform, Mr. Fwap replied that this was precisely what he desired. Our campaign, he affirmed, had been magnificent since, in explaining our policies to the electorate, it had revealed nothing, absolutely noth-In that respect, he believed, had been a little more successful than the other parties since they, for all their sometimes dropped indiscreet hints about their intentions - a grave

IT IS always a mistake, said Mr. Fwan. to imagine that an election campaign has anything to do with public policies. Its purpose, on the contrary, is to avoid policies and to win votes, two entirely different and usually contradictory mat-ters. It is only on very rare occasions, he remarked, that an election decides anything except the winner. The wise statesman will keep public debate off any subject of real importance, will keep the public arguing some exciting irrelevancies and then, on being elected, will do what he pleases about the real busi

The tragic error of the other parties in this election, he believed, was to allow some traces of public business to enter into their speeches and thus to antagonize some sections of the electorate. whereas we had appealed to everybody by skilfully avoiding anything relevant.

HE ADMITTED, however, that the other parties had done pretty well, considering their difficulties, and the election campaign as a whole must be regarded as successful. Obviously it had decided nothing, save the outcome of the election, and the new legislature thus would be able to do what it pleased without commitments one way or the other, in the best tradition, VET MR. FWAP feared that in the joint debate with other candidates our representatives might say something at the last minute and defeat themselves.

He said he regarded the appearance of various candidates on the same platform as a very dangerous proceeding, almost bound to draw from someone an expression of opinion on some issue. However, when an opponent challenged one of our candidates to debate, the invitation could not always be rejected. If possible our candidates must refuse to debate, must say they were too busy, or better still, should scorn the challenge as a disreputable piece of politi-cal trickery. If that could not be managed, then our candidates must take the nifiative and speak out couraged and frankly, making certain that they

FOR EXAMPLE, if they were asked if they favored another coalition gov ernment, they must reply instantly that they did not, that they were unalterably opposed to a system which, as all the former participants declared, had given British Columbia the best government in its history. Since coalition had been uccess, it must now be denounced as unmitigated evil, with which the U.N.P.P. would have nothing whatever

This would give our party a sense of power and quiet assurance very effec-tive in the last days of a campaign. But supposing, said Admiral Bingle, there were no majority in the next legislature? In that case would we not join a coalition? Of course we would, said Mr. Fwap, and consider ourselves lucky to have the chance. We would join anything if it got us into office. That, however, was not a matter to be discussed before the polls closed.

AFTERWARDS we could disregard A what we said on the platform and, deferring to the country's welfare, we would offer a supreme sacrifice and join with others in forming a coalition on grounds of high principle. We were ready, like others, to make any sacrifice for the country. We were even ready, as patriots, to make the sacrifice of smothering our real thoughts during the campaign, and no patriot could be asked

Mr. Fwap added that it was encouraging, it showed the integrity of our politics, when so many candidates of all parties were willing to make that same sacrifice in the interests of truth, justice and votes.

A BOVE ALL, Mr. Fwap warned, our candiates in these last vital mobut against everything. People, he said do not vote for anything. They vote against something. Therefore, the suc-cessful candidate must always appear on the offensive. He should never try to defend anything, not even his own policy, if he were unwise enough to have one, remembering the basic principle that the smaller the matter attacked, the more effective the attack would be Don't attack another party, he urged, because it has ruined the country by spending millions of dollars. Attack it for wasting ten dollars on some local

THAT was the true art of politics, be cause no one was ever elected to office. The other candidates were merely defeated. None of us could hope to be elected, but we might defeat everybody else and in this endeavor, he thought, we were getting a great deal of help from our enemies, who deserved our gratitude. And finally he instructed our candidates, when their opponents promised some new expenditure, to promise twice as much or, if a reduction in motor licenses were proposed, to denounce the enemy for not going half far enough. In short, he concluded, be honest but in decent moderation.

The Fight in Oak Bay

THE MOST dramatic contest in the en-I tire B.C. election is being waged right under the noses of Victorians, in the pleasant residential district of Oak

Few British Columbians are aware of the struggle. Yet it may well prove to be the "sleeper" of the current campaign. What makes it in-triguing is the nature of the contestants. Everyone in B.C. has heard of Herb, Anscomb, the tough, able leader of the Conserva-tive party, whose skill on the floor is admired of his opponent: Liberal standard bearer Archie Gibbs.

To some observers, this seems to have all the trappings of a David and Goliath encounter

On the one hand, there is Mr. Anscomb: big, brawny, cigar-smoking; possessor of a booming voice; master of rough-and-tumble debate; shrewd financier; a teetotaller who is yet a tycoon of wines and beers. On the other, sling-shot in hand, is

Archie Gibbs: a small, neat man with a hearing aid; a chartered accountant who actually practices chartered accountancy; a quietly effective public servant at th nicipal level.

On the face of it, it would appear to be no contest. A month ago, confident Conservatives were offering as much as Today, there is none of that money around. A Liberal who tried to find some recently was told: "The odds have changed. Archie's putting up quite a fight. In fact, some of the boys are beginning to look over their shoulder

If this is true, Mr. Anscomb does no seem to be aware of it. As Tory leader he has been out beating the bushes. In some respects, only the challenger, the referee and the audience appeared to be in the arena. "The champ" de a flourishing entry just before the

The Liberals have shrewdly capitalized on Mr. Anscomb's seemingly cava-lier attitude to his own community. A search of the Journal of the House failed to turn up a single mention of Oak Bays, by its sitting member in the past 10

Consequently, they have been ham-mering hard on Archie Gibbs' proven record of service to his community: councillor for eight years, reeve for two.

During that time he has helped make Oak Bay one of the best-administered municipalities in Canada. When no inations came up last year, Gibbs was unanimously acclaimed for a second term; the majority of his councillors are now actively campaigning for his elec-tion to the provincial House. To opponents who argue that Oak Bay has "never been anything but a Conservative riding," they have an answer. It is true that Mr. Anscomb has, represented the district since it was created in 1938; but, they point out, for 10 of the 14 years it has been in actual fact a Coalition seat. Also, they point to the rapid growth of the district and are finding some solid support in the ranks of anti-Anscomb Tories. These contend that defeat of the former finance minister would be the best thing possible for the health of the province as a whole: that it would not only "clear the air" between Mr. Anscomb and Mr Johnson, but would give the Conserva-tive party a chance to mend the very considerable rift in its present member-ship. It is no secret that this schism extends to the national level, with Mr. Anscomb and Mr. Drew at arm's length on the issue of provincial direction.

Finally, the challengers feel that they have on their side a solid bloc of voters who cannot accept Mr. Anscomb's position that it is perfectly all right to hold a key government position, and at the same time do a large company business with the gov-ernment, via the Liquor Control Board. They hold that, in Mr. Anscomb's native England, such an ambiguity would not be tolerated for

To many Victorians, this reply is rem iniscent of the story of the young man who was haled into court on charges of murdering his father and mother, yet pleaded for leniency. "On what grounds?" growled the claim that its character has changed considerably in the past decade.

Mr. Anscomb's defense of this posi-tion is that he "never attempted to hide

"I'm an orphan," said the prisoner. Best opinion at the moment is that it's an even-money race in Oak Bay. Should Mr. Gibbs win, it would clearly be the most stunning upset of the

When ministers of the gospel start advocating alcohol it is time that they defrocked themselves.

Still they pour in. I mean letters. articles, etc., on the momentous liquor plebiscite, so I really must add my little bit

I wonder what some of our sanctimonious friends would say if I told them that we were allowed beer at school and I don't think any of us went to perdition and became drunkards.

OBSERVER.

So much has been said and written regarding the liquor plebiscite that the issue has become more confused rather than clarified

We are being asked to vote yes or no to the sale of spirituous liquor and wine by the glass in licensed establish-ments. The meaning of "liquor by the glass" is very clear. Do we want bars (the modern name for saloons) on many of our thorough-fares? Do we want liquor sold in restaurants? A yes vote will compel the incoming government to approve the of outlets.

As a parent I would not want my daughters entertained in a restaurant where liquor is readily available.

We want improvement in our liquor laws and the government of B.C. (relaws and the government of B.C. (regardless of party) committed itself on April 19, 1952, to set up a consultative committee to make a full investigation of the liquor system, regardless of the

Therefore, to vote "yes" means more liquor outlets and greater consumption with the committee powerless to prevent it: to vote "no" means we shall have a full analysis with sound recommenda-tions before we change. Let's not jump from the frying pan into the fire. Vote NO until we KNOW.

R. F. WHELLAMS.

MORE, NOT LESS On the forthcoming election day, we are to be asked to vote "yes" or "no" on a liquor plebiscite. If we vote "no" we are voting to carry on, for the present at least, with a system which has been in force for some time and which we more or less know; and, whether we like it or not, a known evil is better than an unknown one.

If, on the other hand, we vote "yes

we have not the faintest idea of what we are voting for, nor who will be in power to administer or to interpret our vote but it must obviously make for rather than less drinking.

Already our liquor bill is a public scandal, and a disgrace to any Christian country; how, then, can we countenance any increased consumption, no matter well it is proposed to be served or how comfortable or easy the conditions for drinking may be planned. All who love their country, and do t wish to see it going further down "Drink Alley" should turn out and vote

British Columbia is noted for its vely climate and majestic trees.

Positively it is one of the most lovely spots on earth. There is not a province in all of Canada that is so solicitous for

What we need today are fruit-bearing trees that bear something tangible from their political labors.

Saanich constituents are extremely fortunate in that regard. Our candidate, the present member, is a man of accom-plishment who bears useful fruit. People everywhere are cognizant of that fact and in consequence his stock is mounting rapidly. That's why we all affection-

Hospital Insurance

COMPULSION

Socred claims of the superiority of Alberta hospital and public health schemes over those in Saskwatchewan are not supported by the report of the Alberta Health Survey Committee (appointed by the Alberta government). The report after two years' study, contains 87 recommendations to improve the present Alberta schemes. No. 54 is too long to quote in full but the most interesting

1. That the plan cover all residents. 4. That the patient carry a portion of cost at the time the service is pro-

5. That patients failing to meet this charge be automatically regarded as in-digent and the charge met by the proper authority: These recommendations show that No. 1 will make it compulsory for all residents to be included.

No. 4 is so-called co-insurance, which is not used in Saskatchewan. The report makes clear that the present Alberta schemes are far from satisfactory and cover only about 72 per cent of the population. Cancer cases in Alberta receive only 14 days free hospitalization for diagnostic purposes. In Saskatche-wan there is no time limit and medical charged at the so-called $1 a day rate but in Saskatchewan they are free of charge for hospitalization and medical

WHO PAYS? Hospital insurance continues to be the most controversial subject in the present election campaign.

The Liberals promise a continuation of the present system with improved administration; the Conservatives promise continuation on a volun-tary basis; the Social Credit promises to introduce the Alberta system where the public pays part, the provincial govern-ment pays part, and the municipalities are left to provide the balance; and the C.C.F. promises the same or better serv ice than we are now getting, practically

Let us consider the case of hospitals before the institution of the B.C. Hospital

Insurance plan.

Most public hospitals were admin istered under an elected or appointed board of local citizens and were con-structed and maintained partly by borrowing and voluntary contribution and the fees received from patients. This more or less haphazard method almost invariably ended by the hospital needing and demanding more and more grants

The needs and demands of the various hospitals throughout the province finally became so great that the government of the day realized that it must do some-thing, and it adopted the hospital insurance scheme

No party has advocated the elimina-tion of hospital insurance. The chief matter of contention between the parties as to whether the scheme shall be to ne extent voluntary; and how and who is to pay for it. -As hospital insurance concerns every. one it is useless to suggest that it can be put either wholly or in part on a voluntary basis. We have tried that and it ended with deficit after deficit and the taxpayer paid the final balance.

A lot of people, including most of the C.C.F., believe that by some miracle they can get something for nothing or some thing from somebody else. Foolish talk about the government or our natural re-sources paying for everything is rather tiresome, because ultimately every penny that the government gets comes from the people in one form or another. What dif-ference is there between paying directly to the government and paying this and that hidden tax?

With better collection methods and some control over hospital expenditures. the hospital insurance scheme can and will succeed.

Wedgewood Gas Heater Range Best Investment She Ever Made

In these days of high prices, home makers who are placing the accent on careful spending are finding the Wedgewood Gas Heater range an exceptionally good value. They see a remarkably improved range for their money and once they install the Wedgewood they find it gradually pays for itself in fuel dollar savings.

Introduced by Macdonald's Limited, 716 Yates Street, the Wedgewood Automatic Gas Heater range was eagerly admired by thousands at 1952 B.C. Products Fair. Many have since then placed orders for this superior range.

One of the first Wedgewood Gas Heater ranges to be sold in Victoria by Macdonald's is owned by Mrs. Helen Smith of 349 Sylvia Street, where it has been in continuous operation for two years. Mrs. Smith cannot praise her Wedgewood too highly. A previous coal and wood user, Mrs. Smith chose the Wedgewood for its automatic circulating heater which keeps her large kitchen comfortably warm and also adjoining areas which no other range has been able to heat. She has every advantage of an electric range combined with greater speed and economy, she says. Easy to clean feawith greater speed and economy, she says. Operating the circulating heater all through the winter months and frequently during the summer, Mrs. Smith is specially pleased with its economical operation, which she says is far below the cost of coal and wood or electricity

Mrs. Smith is enthusiastic over the wide variety of dishes she is able to prepare on her Wedgewood range. Her oven is marvelous for baking cakes to perfection, and the Simmer "Keep-Warm" burners operate her pressure cooker at the lowest point of heat. - Car Licenses to be reduced 30 per cent.
- NOW Victoria can afford its Yates Street Fire Hall! NOW many worthy organizations can again receive helpful grants from the city and all this at no extra cost to the tax payer—because the Progressive Conservative government's grants to the city in lieu of taxes on government property such as the Parliament Buildings will amply cover these costs and will be turned over to the city with no strings attached.
- Continuation of the Progressive Conservative policy of building permanent highways.
- Protection for the small loggers. Absolute Forest Con-servation means no barren hillsides, better hunting and fishing, increased tourist trade.
- Under the P.C. Hospital Insurance Plan
- You buy insurance if you want it. You buy it where you want to, either from the government or from a private concern such as the Blue Cross, wherever you get the best deal. You will not be prosecuted if you do not buy it at all. Free hospital care will be provided to old-age pensioners, the indigent, social assistance cases and all others who are entitled to it too, NO. # G and how does it work?

There is no problem or anything difficult in Alternative Voting. It is simple and fair. Under the old system of voting, it was possible for the candidate or party with a minority vote to get elected. For instance, if two candidates had 1000 votes each and the third had 1025, the third candidate would win even though 2000 votes had been cast against him. Under the Alternative Vote this is impossible. You mark the ballot thus: 1-for your first choice; 2-for your second choice and so on. If, on the first count, there is no absolute majority for any one candidate, the one with the fewest ballots marked in his favor is dropped and his ballots distributed among the candidates according to the second choices as indicated on these ballots. Again, if on the second count, no absolute majority is reached the same process would be used again. Then, when the candidate who has more votes than all the other candidates together is found, he wins and is elected.

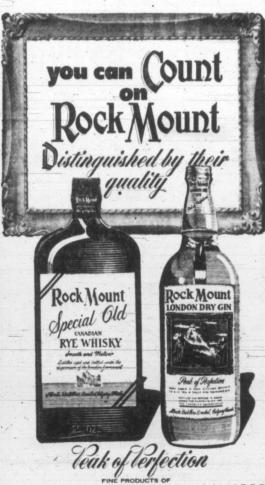

Remember, all you have to do is to mark a numeral 1-2-3-4 against the candidates listed on the ballot in order of your preference.

Most women today realize that a Government affects the welfare of the family-and the future of their children.

It is the woman who is responsible for the family . . . she buys the food, the clothes, the shoes, and prepares the meals. Continuous employment and bigger take-home pay lightens her problem and helps to make a happy home. The drop in the cost of living index shown recently is all to the good.

The Johnson administration has increased and enlarged many vital social services, including mothers' allowances and old age pensions. These have made women's worries fewer.

No one knows better than a woman what security and peace of mind mean to the average family.

It is in every family's interest to see that experience is at the helm in British Columbia for the years that lie ahead. Premier Byron Johnson, a man of integrity, sincerity and honesty is the only leader in whom you can place your trust.

Community Effort BOURNEMOUTH, Eng. (CP) With the help of a lawyer and un architect, a group of provinced. Mr. Anscomb

Mr. Anscomb the other day got up at a political meeting and said that the Liquor Board is not the "Crown," that it's an independent commission apart from the government.

The matter came up when he was asked if he intends to give up his wine interests if he's returned to office. Mr. Anscomb said no, he wouldn't. We admire his honesty.

But when he says the Liquor Board isn't the Crown, that it's an independent commission, he talks nonsense

The Liquor Board is a branch of government. It does nothing important without consulting the government. Mr. Anscombenows that, too. He would certainly have a hard job convincing the public otherwise

This panoramic view of the richest section of the famous Slocan Mining district of British Columbia depicts at a glance. the magnitude of the mountain area, whose past records may well be eclipsed by the mineral recoveries of the future. The picture shows probably about one-third of the Slocan mineral empire. The patches of bare ground scattered all over the untainsides are mine-dumps, most of them appearing at portals of tunnels from which came tens of millio worth of silver, lead and zine. Whitewater, Lucky Jim and Slocan Rambler lie in the valley north of Carpenter Creek, shown in the foreground. Their approximate locations are indicated by the arrows below their names. In all other instances the arrows point directly to the properties named. Carnegie (Silversmith) location in the picture serves also to point out the location of the mining town of Sandon, terminus of the branch line of the Kaslo-Nakusp section of the Canadian Pacific Railway which links Three Forks (just to the right of Violamac) and Sandon. From the railway a good truck-road leads to Noble Five (now Cody-Reco) and Bluebird Slocan. The necessary continuation of this road to serve the Bluebird Slocan operation is nearly completed.

The area included in the above panoramic picture has already been proven one of the greatest mining sections of the continent. It is an important part of the rich Kootenay district of British Columbia, which boasts the giant Sullivan Mine and the huge smelter of Consolidated Mining & Smelting Co., Ltd., at Trail-the largest non-ferrous plant in the world.

The Slocan Mining Division, centered by the section pictured here, has a recorded metal recovery of approximately $75,000,000. Owing to inferior, or old-time, methods of metallurgical operation when most of the recovery occurred, little more than half the metallic wealth dug from the mountains represented cash returns. The actual value of the metals was probably close to $150,000,000. At today's prices of silver, lead and zinc-which minerals accounted for nearly all of the values recoveredthe total worth would be about $500,000,000-a cool half-billion.

Bluebird Slocan, now rapidly approaching the production stage, is strategically located in the heart of this mineralempire, often referred to as "The Silvery Slocan," and probably has a greater unmined wealth awaiting recovery than that already recorded. We have prepared an attractive illustrated brochure, with maps, history and working plans, which will be mailed, free of obligation, to any address upon request.
